FOREWORD

Graduation marks for the Class of '52, the completion of a long-desired objective, the end of a period devoted to the attainment of skills and knowledge with which we have equipped ourselves for use in the years ahead.

Graduation also marks the beginning of our larger contributions to the community in which we live and from which we have drawn our sustenance. Henceforth, we hope to give more in proportion as we receive.

With this thought in mind, we have prepared this book for the purpose, not only of portraying our school days, but also of recognizing the part that Le Roy has played in contributing to our success and happiness.

That we may have a record of our lives as students; that we may show how our lives have been inextricably bound with the community of Le Roy; that we may show how the school prepares us to become worthwhile members of that community; that we may show how each activity, each business, each industry, each professional man, each individual contributes to the welfare of our village; these are the purposes of this book.

The view above is familiar to us all. Each of us knows intimately every store; each of us has crossed the bridge countless times as we wend our way to and from school; each of us can recall a pleasant or unhappy event which took place on these very pavements.

Le Roy is a part of us, so closely bound to our daily lives that all too often we neglect to appraise its real worth in our existence. We have lived here lovingly protected; here we have suffered the joys and tortures of growing up. We were educated in Le Roy, our parents are a part of it, our best friends live in its pleasant homes. The great majority of the experiences which we are storing up in our memories took place in this village. Many of us will find employment here and become contributing members of the community; those of us who will leave will cling to it with our memories.

With these thoughts in mind we dedicate this, the 1952 O-AT-KAN, to the community of Le Roy. We dedicate it in gratitude for what Le Roy has given us, with pride in what it has accomplished, with admiration for its beauty and with fond affection for its citizens.

MR. LAPP

We would be ungrateful indeed if we did not extend special recognition to Mr. Lapp for the 18 years of service which he has given to this school through his work as a member of the Board of Education.

MR. FRANK

Mr. Frank represents to us the interest of the small-business man in our education. For making his Dinette a place where we like to congregate and for his annual treat for the football team, we cordially thank him.

MR. PRICE

Mr. Price, our senior adviser, has guided us well and faithfully past the pitfalls which line the path of the seniors. His store of knowledge, his willingness to help us, his ready wit have all helped to make our senior year so enjoyable.

DENNIS FANNING

The O-AT-KAN this year has chosen to honor a senior who, they believe, exemplifies good school citizenship. As class president for the past two years and in many other activities Denny has demonstrated qualities of leadership that ensure continued success.

Administration

“ derive their just powers from the consent of the governed.” It would be difficult to find a better illustration of democracy in action than that given by the chart on the right. From the citizens of Le Roy, those governed, is derived the right of the various people and groups to formulate the policies by which both the community and the school will function.

A further look will serve to convince the reader that this school and this community are not two separate interests but that each is a part of the other and that each exists for the other.

The community provides and sustains the school. Able men to administer the school, conscientious and devoted faculty members, our fine new buildings, the materials with which the school system is operated, transportation to outlying areas—all these and countless other things does the community provide. But most important, it provides the desire to have its youth educated and given every opportunity for future success.

The school in turn provides the type of educated, trained citizen who will prove an asset to Le Roy and who, having assimilated the democratic traditions found here, will in later years take his place as a leader and productive member of our community.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Harris MacKenzie, Almeron Wilcox, Sidney D. O'Shea, Clarence Lapp, Ralph W. Jenner, Lester A. Pridgeon

The finest illustration of community interest in its schools lies in the Board of Education. This organization is composed of citizens of the community who, through knowledge of the value of education and a desire to serve the youth of the community, volunteer their services with no payment other than the immense satisfaction that comes with serving their fellow men. The job of a board member is a difficult one, an exacting one, a responsible one, and a time-consuming one. Yet month after month these men faithfully meet to discharge the duties imposed on them by their fellow townsmen, to set the broad policies of the school and to handle the large sums of money necessary for good public education. Our lovely, functional school building serves as a testimony to their ability and their zeal.

These men are truly representative of the people for they are chosen in a free election by the vote of their peers. They are the men whom the community chooses to oversee the education of its youth and provide them with the means of obtaining that education.

The staff of the O-At-Kan would like to extend its welcome to Mr. Howard Symonds (below) who joins the board for the first time this year, and at the same time to express its sorrow at the departure of Grover W. Lapp (opposite page). Mr. Lapp has terminated 18 years of faithful service and deserves the heartfelt thanks of both the community and the school.

MATTHEW W. GAFFNEY: SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS
Hobart College, A. B.; Harvard University; University of Rochester, M. A.

When the history of the United States is finally written, the true greatness of this nation will be recognized not in the size of our airplanes, the speed of our rockets, nor in the power of our atomic bombs: but, rather in the magnificence of our public schools.

Never before in the history of mankind have a people been willing to invest so much of its time and wealth in the training of its youth as have the people of the United States and especially the citizens of New York State.

It is particularly fitting therefore, that this O-AT-KAN is dedicated to the communities of the Le Roy Central Schools, for it is out of these communities that our school gains both its support and its inspiration. The Le Roy Central Schools represent the highest ideals of the citizens of the towns it represents, and expresses through its children its finest aspirations for the future of this community, state, and nation.

Year by year as each succeeding Senior Class leaves the school as graduates to take their place in society, upon them falls a part of the responsibility of repaying the community by their becoming enthusiastic supporters of free education in a free America.

MR. GAFFNEY

THE PRINCIPALS OF THE SCHOOLS

Congratulations to you, members of the Class of 1952, for achieving a goal which is a milestone in your career, graduation from high school.

Very soon some of you will be taking your places in community life and community affairs. Others may go on for further formal schooling and will take their places in the community a little later. Regardless of the group to which you belong, your yearbook, with its well chosen theme, will certainly add to your knowledge of Le Roy and your understanding and appreciation of community life.

MR. HERR

DONALD E. HERR: Principal of High School, Albany State Teachers College, B. S.; University of Rochester, Ed. M.

Growth is the keynote of the Wolcott Street School.

During the year five new rooms and an enlarged kindergarten were completed. The growing facilities include new shower rooms, a new stage, better lighting, a public address system, and other improvements.

In the past five years the school population has grown from approximately 450 students to approximately 800 students, which is an indication of a growing community. To guide the welfare of these children the faculty has grown to twenty-nine members.

Most important is the development of the future citizens of the community. The whole community is their school. Le Roy's most important resource (its children) is first shaped by the home and neighborhood. Later, when the child enters school he is molded by new ones—his teachers and his fellow students.

All of these forces -- home, school, and community -- working together determine how the growing person will finally develop.

Reading, 'riting, 'rithmetic, history, geography, foreign languages, science, useful arts, fine arts, citizenship education and a host of other fields are the pursuits of the students herein pictured. From the time when we first leave the warm security of home for the first frightening day in kindergarten until we sadly close the doors of high school behind us for the last time, we are working for self-betterment so that we may benefit all mankind.

In these classrooms are molded the Le Royans of the future. Here are the future mayors and board members. Here are industrial leaders, laborers and salesmen. That smiling girl on page twenty three will one day administer to the sick of the village, that solemn-faced boy on page twenty-seven is dreaming dreams of that new bridge across the O-at-ka which he will help build in the future. His neighbors will, in not many years, be selling candy to the owner of a nose pressed flat against a show case as his was just this noon.

Mangefrida, Rogers, Russell

Last fall we began our high school career, a career which we feel will carry us to new heights and which will set new records in the history of Le Roy. We all felt a little bit lost when we first entered this beautiful building, but with the guidance of the upperclassmen and the kind understanding of the teachers we soon became accustomed to our new "home away from home." Before long we had settled into the routine and had taken our first steps as junior high students.

Among the first of our official duties was the election of class officers. The following people were chosen: Roger Rogers, president; JoAnn Mangefrida, vice-president; Lorraine Russell, secretary-treasurer. Because we were now to be governed by the Student Council, we also chose representatives to that organization. Our representatives were Polly Mills, representative-at-large, Fred Mangefrida, representing room 208, Allen Cohen, representing room 102 and Douglas Scott from room 112. The work of these people helped to make our start such a successful one.

One of our first projects as a class was entering the annual Christmas decoration contest and competing for honors given to the class which best decorates a homeroom. We chose Mr. Fitch's room and, much to our delight, won first prize. Thus we had been most successful in our first school competition. We feel that this is a good indication of the future success which we are going to enjoy.

Among the less pleasant events of our first year were our mid-term examinations, taken as the high school students take theirs. However, we had no serious casualties and our first big obstacle had been hurdled.

The second semester brought with it a new slate of officers to relieve those who had worked so hard for us the first term. This time Russell O'Geen and Sandra Baker were elected president and vice-president respectively, and Lorraine Russell was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Betty O'Geen was chosen to represent room 106 in Student Council and Phyllis Wilcox, to represent room 112. Allen Cohen was given a second term by the students in room 107. Roger Rogers, past president, was elected representative-at-large.

One of the major social events of the season was a junior high skating party at Silver Lake. This was a valuable activity for it offered a chance for all the seventh grade to know each other better as well as the opportunity to meet members of the eighth grade. We also had the opportunity to meet members of the faculty on a social level, although it seemed that some of them who had never skated before were constantly level with the floor.

We also began to make ourselves felt in the musical organizations when many members began instrumental lessons and seven girls began to work hard at twirling so that they might become majorettes.

Six seventh-graders made the junior high cheerleading squad and were instrumental in cheering their teams on to victory in intramural sports.

We sincerely hope that our next five years will be as enjoyable and as worthwhile as this year has been.

Eighth Grade

Through the portals of L. C. S. daily pass the members of the eighth grade going to their appointed classes. The leaders of this proud band this year are Joseph Charles Frank, President; Augustine Iannello, Vice-President; Sonja Rae Schmelzle, Secretary; and Rhoda Byers, Treasurer. Homeroom representatives for Student Council are room 122, Sylvia Scott; room 110, Gary Leitner; and room 109, Rowena Clark. Representative at large for the eighth grade is Jack Carroll. Our faculty advisors are Miss Bernard and Mr. Rudman.

This year in the National Spelling Bee the winners in L. C. S., who are both from the eighth grade, are Donna Drayo, first place, and Jerome Spiller, runner up. Donna will now go on to the Genesee County contest.

Frank, Iannello, Byers, Schmelzle.

We went to a wonderful roller skating party in Brockport in February, along with the 7th grade. Our chaperones were Mr. Rudman and Mr. Fitch, who did very well on skates except for a few minor spills.

The eighth grade out-did themselves with their Christmas Decorations. They were very attractive and in the spirit of the season, although one of the 7th grade classrooms won the first prize.

This is our second year in L. C. S., the year after "The Great Remodeling," and we really feel at home now. We understand the school's rules better, and though we are not always perfect, we obey them to the best of our ability and are proud of our record.

We are taking an active part in school sports now, and we have our own eighth grade cheer leaders who spur the boys on to victory in the Intramurals. The eighth graders, both boys and girls, also play basketball, volleyball, and other sports in the gym during the noon hour.

The eighth grade has some budding romances and we enjoy the dances very much, and cannot wait until next year when we will be able to sponsor a dance of our own.

This year the Red Key Society enlarged and formed a Service Club of which many eighth graders are members.

During the first week of Spring, Mr. Lane, our chorus director, and all the choruses of

L. C. S. presented a "Festival of Folk Music," and the eighth grade chorus sang a few nice American folk songs as our contribution. The Festival was a complete success.

Miss DeVoe's Home Economics Classes of the eighth grade made scrapbooks, rag dolls, and other toys, and sent them to the Edith Hartwell Cerebral Palsey Clinic for children here in Le Roy.

To all intents and purposes, the eighth grade has had a most successful year, largely due to the efforts of that wonderful group of people, our teachers.

Freshman Class

This class of '55 really got off to a fine start this year when our friends from St. Peters arrived to complete our "team." Right away we got together and chose as "captain," Charles Panepento to call our plays, Barbara Porter as "co-captain," Beverly Passmore as "assistant manager" to take down notes and records from the various jokes and comments, and Sonja Bradbury, as "manager" of the funds.

We freshmen exemplified our activity and shouldered our part in high school when so many of our teammates made the J-V's in football and made such a success of themselves. Among our stalwarts were Robert Fanning, Phil Trudel, Donald Miller, Daniel Miller, Dick Clark, Rosy

Panepento, Passmore, Porter, Bradbury

Ferarra, Charles Panepento, Anthony Pasquale and others. We really swelled up with pride, even if it was cold for the girls sitting on the bleachers. Then along came basketball and here again our fellows excelled. Lacrosse also found a few of the braver males of our class out there in the midst of it.

NOW WE HAVE OFFICERS

We were also very proud to have the Freshman Class so well represented on the Jay-Vee Cheerleading Team. The girls were Lucille Vinci, Jean Ewart, and Veronica Corcimiglia. In the meantime the rest of the teammates weren't sleeping, but did very well selling candy, popcorn and pop at our stand, besides cheering our teams on.

If you'll remember, the Frosh girls were right on the beam this year, also. They bowled, and played basketball, tennis, soccer and other sports. Many attended the GAA dinners and a few received honors.

Our "team" was also very pleased to have so many of our members in chorus, senior band, and on the "Red and Black" staff. Many of our team mates were also members of the Service Club; as well as Student Council.

Our highlight of the year was the Frosh Dance with the theme "Dancing in the Rain." A busy committee under Daniel Miller, decorated the gym with umbrellas, balloons and rainbow-colored crepe paper, which gave the gym a lively effect. We hope that everyone enjoyed the dancing to the music of the Ex-Checks and the entertainment, even if the floor was a little crowded.

This year we have been very busy, adjusting our schedules for the rest of our high school years and have industriously tried to lay a good foundation for our class throughout high school. Many of us have found through our guidance classes that we are interested in many things that we never thought possible. Several of us have visited places which are of interest to us because of our future plans.

We also wish to say that we know this wonderful new school is essentially ours and that we will do our best to watch over and keep the property in the best possible condition for the next three years.

We have referred to our class as the "Team" and we wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our "coaches", Mr. Barone and Mr. Letko for their aid as class advisers.

No doubt you will see us around again next year, trying to live up to our school's motto which is "Semper Notra Optima"—always our best. We'll do it too.

Sophomore Class

We were greenhorns when we first started the climb up the ladder to our goal of '54, but we followed the rest and picked Joyce Brimmer and Bob Morris to guide us the first half of the year and Dan Keenan and Larry Scinta the remainder of the year. Mrs. Russell and Mr. Fitch, our advisers, helped us find our way into the school functions.

In the eighth grade we were a step further towards our goal. We started off by electing Peggy Mancuso president and Bob Morris vice-president. We began the fun with a big Christmas party with decorations. With our vigorous efforts we even had old Santa and his reindeer flying through our homeroom, but all our efforts failed to bring home the honors. The junior high basketball team finished the season with flying colors. Besides having athletes in our class we also have talent. Grace Ann Symonds won first prize on her essay on fire prevention sponsored by the Le Roy businessmen.

Our Freshman year was the beginning of a new life for us. We elected Wayne Mayo president and Cal Lathan vice-president. Under the careful guidance and planning of our advisers, Mr. Letko and Mr. Barone, our class dance was a big success. Using St. Patrick's Day as our theme, our decorating committee did a swell job of brightening up our old gym. If it weren't for us there wouldn't have been a J.V. squad because we had eight boys representing our class on the basketball team and eleven on the football team. The girls were equally active in sports. Some of the girls got so professional that they were chosen to represent our school at several play-days. We can be proud that we have some musicians in senior band and choruses. Won't that picnic we had in our freshman year be a memory log remembered by those that attended? With everything against us, including the weather, we became discouraged, but with Mr. Letko's guiding hand we had a wonderful time on our excursion to Conesus Lake.

As sophomores, we are approaching the top of the ladder toward our goal. We elected Judd

Crocker president and Sidney Smith vice-president. With Miss DeVoe's and Mr. Babcock's patient guidance, our sophomore dance was a great financial success, because it was one of the first dances held in our new gym. The dance followed the theme of Valentine's Day. We are also proud to say that Ed Englerth, John Eppolito, Romey Lachnicht, Ray Leach and Bob Grant are on the Varsity football squad and John Eppolito is the only one on the basketball team. To cheer the J.V.'s on to victory this year are Betty Yachett, Elinora Mogavero, and Virginia DeGraw. A group of twelve girls from the class gave an example of our speaking ability at the Sophomore Speaking Contest held on March 28th. Grace Ann Symonds took first place, followed by Madonna Mc Burney and Elinora Mogavero.

We, the class of '54, wish to thank our advisers who have done such a wonderful job in guiding us through these four high school years and we are looking forward to our two remaining years which will bring new friends and opportunities.

Junior Class

Five years ago we entered Le Roy High School as seventh-graders under the guidance of Mrs. Russell, Miss Rush, and Mr. Cope. We made quite a showing by presenting several plays, one in assembly. We did the same in eighth grade, and our eighth grade chorus took part in the Spring Concert for the first time. We had many members on the fine junior high basketball team. One of our homerooms won the prize for the best junior high Christmas decorations, and under the leadership of Mr. Henderson and Mr. Frederick we held an eighth grade dance and invited the eighth graders from St. Peter's School.

Trumbore, Baglio, Mooney, Kunego.

Our first year of high school was carried off excellently with Miss Uphill and Mr. Letko as our advisers. We were well represented on the Jay-Vee basketball team and had a top member on the Varsity Squad. We worked hard selling refreshments at the basketball games, and were very proud of our Freshman Dance, the Cinderella Ball.

READY TO ASSUME LEADERSHIP

As Sophomores we sold ice-cream at basketball games, and again had many members participating in the various sports. Four members of the Varsity football team were sophomores, and we filled most of the J. V. cheerleading jobs. Our Sophomore Dance, with the theme of the Mardi Gras, was full of fun with both round and square dancing. Eleven girls entered the annual Sophomore Speaking Contest, one of the activities belonging to Sophomores alone. Our advisors were Mrs. Willamee and Mr. Babcock.

This year, as juniors, we have had one of our best years. Our Junior Hoedown at Halloween time was the first dance of the year, and our traditional Junior Prom in May was well attended. We shared the checkroom with the seniors at basketball games, and one of our projects was making numerical order telephone books for public sale. As for our participation in sports, we claimed many members of the football team and four members of the first string Varsity basketball team, along with other members on the rest of the team. Our speaking ability was shown when several of our members entered the Larkin Speaking Contest. We owe many thanks to those who guided us through this year, Mrs. Willamee and Mr. Cahill.

Every year our class made up a large percentage of band and chorus, and has taken an active interest in the different school activities.

We now have only one more year in L. H. S., but we will try to make it as wonderful and successful as the years that are behind us have been.

Activities

We learn by more than books alone. Through the many activities provided by the school we are able to put into practice those theories which we hear in the classrooms.

Through the student council we learn to practice democracy; we develop poise in dramatics. We learn that publications are the voices of the people and the means by which they keep informed. We learn to manage our future homes and maintain our future farms. Even such activities as dances and parties have their share of educational value; for if they are to be successful we must work together, plan thoroughly, handle finances, accept responsibilities, deal with the public and perform a host of other duties which help prepare us for the particular duties we will assume in the future.

We have not been able to depict in this section all the myriad activities which are a part of education, but we hope that the sampling which we have chosen will give the reader some insight into the lighter views of our school life.

Student Council - Village Board

Pictured at the right are two democratic administrative bodies, one representing the village and the other representing the school. The members of the Village Board (Right, bottom) are citizens of Le Roy chosen by their fellow citizens to determine policies and to decide issues which are of concern to all. These men meet with their chief administrator, Mayor Ellsworth Bradbury, and amicably and democratically arrive at decisions. These men are chosen in a free election, are guided by the will of the community and protect the right and privileges of the members of the community.

The Student Council (Right, top) is also a democratic body. It is composed of a group of people chosen by their fellow students to act on matters which pertain to all. These students also meet with their chief administrator, President William Scott, and amicably and democratically arrive at decisions. They too are chosen in free elections, are guided by the will of their classmates and protect the right and privileges of each student and each group in the school.

The two party system prevails in American politics, so this year the Student Council decided that a two-party system should be worked out in school. As a result two parties were formed, candidates chosen and a general election held. An independent candidate also entered the picture. The students of the school after a spirited campaign and a very close election chose Dan Mooney to succeed President William Scott and Louise Byers to succeed Vice-President Evelyn Paladino. It is to be hoped that the next administration will be as successful as this past one — one of the very best in the history of Le Roy's Student Councils. A note of thanks should go to the leaders and all the class and homeroom representatives for a job well done.

The F. H. A., Future Homemakers of America and the F. F. A., Future Farmers of America, are two of the more practical of the organizations of this school. Working on the principle that the vast majority of the girls will at some time have charge of the care of a home, the F. H. A. members attempt to prepare themselves as well as possible for all phases of this important responsibility. The girls are under the capable guidance of Miss Warren. F. F. A. members and their advisor, Mr. Cole, can be seen at almost any time of the day or night engaged in any of the many duties connected with the operation of the school farm and, thus, learning to operate future farms of their own. The school farm is a new addition this year, an addition made possible through the gracious generosity of Mrs. Ernest L. Woodward, who made it a gift to the school.

The Le Roy Chapter of the National Honor Society began as a member of the New York State Honor League in 1927. Then in 1932 at a meeting of the Associated Academic Principals of the State of New York, it was voted that the High School Honor Society of the State of New York should be affiliated with the National Honor Society. So in June 1933, the Constitution of the Le Roy Chapter was adopted by the Society.

The object of the National Honor Society is to stimulate increased scholarship, leadership, character and service among the students of secondary schools.

Not more than 15% of the Senior Class are eligible to join the Society and these students, selected by a committee of the faculty, must have excelled in leadership, scholarship, character and service.

In the spring of 1951 seven juniors, Irving Call, James Ewart, Dorothy Heaman, Jeanne MacKenzie, Virginia Myers, William Scott and Carol Stettinius, rec'd this creed:

"I believe in real knowledge, acquired through an open mind, unfettered by prejudice. I believe that character is the foundation of the highest type of scholarship. I believe that unselfish service is my privilege and responsibility. I believe that character, scholarship and service impose responsibilities of leadership. I trust that I shall be ready to lead as to follow when leadership is demanded of me.

"Therefore believing in knowledge, character, service and leadership, I rejoice in the obligation which membership in the National Honor Society places upon me and I will do my best to fulfill its spirit and purpose."

In February of 1952 four more seniors, Gloria Jackson, Robert Selden, Lillian Spadaro and Roger Thorkildsen were initiated, swelling the membership to eleven.

After six months of congenial toil together the members of the 1952 O-AT-KAN staff are about to lay aside our official pens and submit the results of our labors to the school and the community. We recall the first staff meeting when we were formulating plans to present a yearbook that would represent our school as part of the town, not as an isolated unit.

We feel ourselves an important factor in our community and we hope we have portrayed this unity in a pleasing way.

If our efforts have been successful, it is because of the fine cooperation we have had from the different organizations and the members of the senior class. Mr. Cahill, the tireless adviser of both school publications, helped us keep away from the many pitfalls. To him and to Mr. Price, our astute financial adviser, we express our sincere appreciation.

We trust this year's O-AT-KAN will fulfill your highest expectations and perhaps give you a clearer picture of the school and community. In years to come we hope our yearbook will mark the progress of our community and mean to you then, as now, all that a yearbook should mean.

Accept it as it is given, in loyalty to our community, to our Alma Mater.

Future journalists are given a chance to develop their talents by working on our school paper, The Red and Black. The staff isn't confined to just journalist students, but is expanded to include all the students interested in this work.

First semester most of the work on the paper was done in journalism class. As many of the staff as possible took journalism so that they could help in putting the paper together. While much of the writing was done outside of class, the paper was put together, proof read and various other tasks were performed in the classroom. Second semester, because there was no journalism class, the work on the Red and Black was done in free periods.

Our paper not only serves as a means of keeping students informed, but also gives the students practical experience in writing compact, factual, and interesting articles.

To help boost subscription sales the Red and Black ran a subscription sales contest. A black banner bearing the words, "Outstanding School Spirit", was awarded to the 8th grade for buying the most subscriptions.

Even though writing for the Red and Black meant work, it also has a lot of fun connected to it, so that it's not all work and no play.

Larkin Speaking Contest

The absence of an auditorium at school in no way hindered the presentation of the annual Larkin Speaking Contest, which was held in the Woodward Memorial Library at 8:15 p. m. on Friday, April 18.

As has been done for several years, all the speeches were original. They pertained to many different subjects, the only similarity being that they were all about problems—national, local, family, and personal—all types of problems.

First prize of $15.00 was awarded to Louise Byers, whose speech was entitled, "The Doorway". Judith Rodgers captured the second prize of $10.00 with her topic, "Grandmother Had A Cinch". Third prize of $5.00 was won by Marie Baglio with her oration on, "Life With Sister". The money for these awards comes from the fund left by the late Thomas W. Larkin.

The judges of the contest were: Mrs. G. Henry Knoll, Mrs. Theodore Chapman, and Mr. William Holden. Awards were made by Mrs. Knoll. The director, for whose help all contestants are grateful, was Mr. Walter C. McRoberts.

These contests are a great aid to the students in gaining poise and speaking ability and overcoming so-called stage fright. As long as the students realize this there will be strong interest in the contest, and at the present there is no fear of its ever dying out.

Sophomore Speaking Contest

The seventeenth annual Sophomore Speaking Contest was held at the Woodward Memorial Library on Friday evening, March 28.

The contest was under the capable direction of Mrs. Ivy Balmer as it has been ever since the contest was originated. Chairman of the event was Gloria Nicho's, who did a very capable job.

Contestants and speeches were: Barbara Lightholder, "The Exploits of Charles"; Betty Daniels, "Mr. Hadley's Home Town"; Beverly Heywood, "Mama and Her Bank Account"; Margaret Maloy, "Father Hires a Cook"; Lorraine Scott, "Father Sews on a Button"; Betty Yachett, "I Like It Best of All"; Barbara Durney, "Eavesdroppers in Eden"; Susan Hoe, "The Sampler"; and Barbara Kunego, "You Don't Have To Be Rich".

Winner of first prize was Grace Ann Symonds who gave "A Nightgown for a Queen". Second prize was awarded to Madonna McBurney whose topic was "The Rebirth of Tony". Third prize was awarded to Eleanor Mogavero giving "The Story of a Boy".

The Sophomore Speaking Contest was originated seventeen years ago when a group of sophomores felt that they should have a chance to speak before people before going into the Larkin Speaking Contest. This group and Mrs. Balmer met and had the first Sophomore Speaking Contest in the history of Le Roy High School.

The school and community have always valued this annual program for the pleasure and profit it affords both participants and those attending the contest.

Red Key Society

If one were to take away all those members of a community who freely and willingly gave of their time and services in such activities as the Board of Education, The Community Chest, The Red Cross, various church groups, fraternal organizations and many others, we would have only a shell of a community without its heart. Certainly it could not operate efficiently under such circumstances.

So too are such people necessary for an efficiently operated school. The Red Key Society (above) and the newly-formed Service Club (right, top and bottom) are composed of groups of students who have volunteered their services so that this school may operate more smoothly.

The Service Club is an organization newly formed this year. It is intended that this group will replace the Red Key society and will perform the duties originally assumed by the Red

Key as well as any other duties which may be assigned to it.

These organizations this year have performed many tasks which would otherwise have been given to busy teachers or people hired by the school. The principal work undertaken by their members is monitor duty in the halls and on the buses. To keep traffic flowing smoothly in the halls and to see that order is maintained while classes are passing are the tasks of the hall monitors. The bus monitors are the bus drivers' right hand men. They check to make certain that all people are on the right bus and present when the bus leaves. They maintain order on the bus so that the driver may devote his time and attention to driving.

Working in the office and collecting and checking attendance slips is another job done by these organizations. Their work in the cafeteria helps to make it run smoothly and efficiently.

Our Hearts Were Young and Gay

The senior class initiated our new auditorium with an excellent performance of Cornelia Otis Skinner's and Emily Kimbrough's comedy "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay". Full houses on each of the two succeeding nights howled with laughter at the antics of Virginia Myers (Cornelia), Judy Rodgers (Emily), and Roger Thorkildsen and Dennis Fanning, two medical students.

Responsible in great part for the success of the performance were the members of the stage crew and the various other committees, without whose conscientious work no performance would have been possible.

A special bow should be directed at Mr. McRoberts, our very capable director, whose patience and knowledge of dramatics was the key-stone around which the production was built.

Athletics

Athletics occupy an important place in the school's curriculum. With all the talk of de-emphasizing sports it may be of value to mention briefly how a good athletic program serves the community.

Primarily it serves the community through its youth. Physical fitness is essential if an individual is to contribute all of which he is capable. In addition to this, athletics teaches sportsmanship, initiative, quick thinking, teamwork, coordination, the will to succeed and many other traits which will serve an individual, and thus his community, well.

Athletics also serves the community in another respect, one which is all too often overlooked. The scene of an athletic encounter is often a rallying point for community spirit, that spirit which molds a group of individuals into cohesive force. Here students and adults rub elbows and in so doing each increases his understanding of the other. The spirit of a community is sometimes cemented in its common desire to see its representatives victorious on the sports field.

These teams have been fortunate in the number and faithfulness of their followers, and no small credit for their past successes should go to the people of Le Roy who have given so much support.

The Le Roy Red and Black opened its 1951 football season with an impressive victory over the Caledonia eleven by a score of 25-6. The Le Royans seeking revenge from the last year's upset, took an early lead by taking advantage of the many Caledonia fumbles. With Landcastle and Englerth dividing the touchdowns, the game proved to be the start of another successful season.

The Red and Black, now with one win, ventured to Hornell, a much larger school. Hornell was big, too big, and they proved their superiority in numbers by being victorious to the tune of 33-0.

The Red and Black with some injuries, came back fighting, meeting Monroe on our home grounds. It was a hard-fought battle with neither team making any real threats. Then, early in the fourth quarter, the Le Royans completed a touchdown pass, giving their team a second win, 7-0.

Le Roy traveled to Albion for the first conference game; the game went scoreless in the first half with the teams sizing each other up. Then, in the second half, Garner scored the only two touchdowns of the game, giving LeRoy their third win by a score, 12-0.

The Williamsville eleven came to Le Roy for their first game here. In the second period Le-Roy unleashed an attack which, in a few plays, put them in a scoring position for their first touchdown, and the second followed soon after. In the second half there was rugged defensive play by both teams which kept that half scoreless and gave Le Roy a win, 13-0.

In Le Roy's sixth start, with four wins, we encountered the Medina team at home. It was as stiff as the rest, with two-evenly-matched teams. Neither team made much progress until in the closing minutes. Le Roy made a final 65 yard drive which, with 45 seconds left, gave Le-Roy their winning touchdown, 6-0.

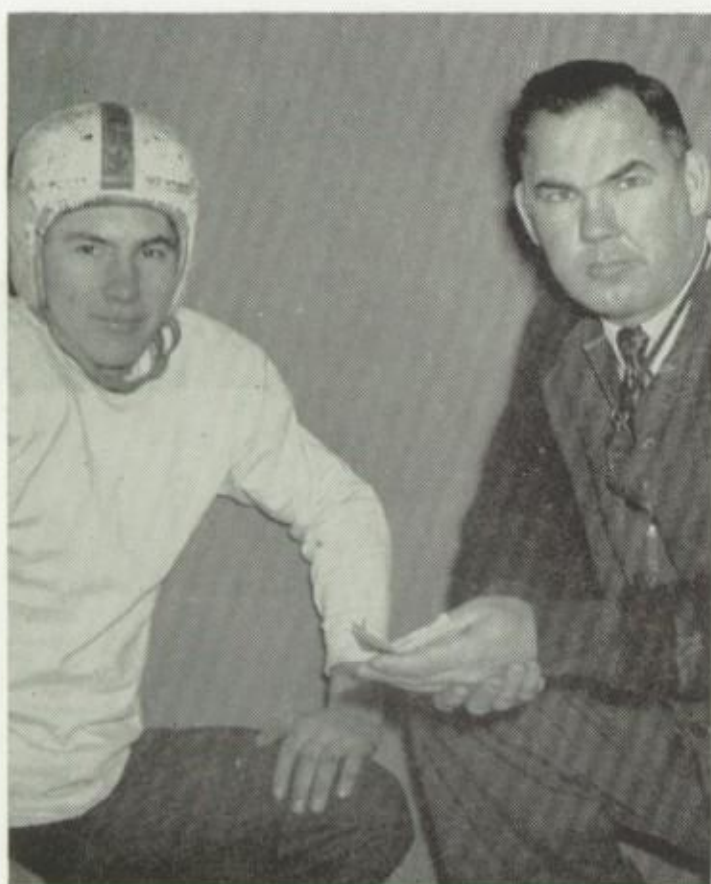

The 58th meeting between Le Roy and Batavia, continued the dreaded rivalry between them and added more flame to the traditional fire. The first half went scoreless and it looked as though this game was going to end in that same situation. Then, in the second half, the Batavians played a brilliant game and rolled over Le Roy with a 13-0 victory, spoiling our four consecutive win record.

Le Roy traveled to Amherst for their fourth meeting together. In the second quarter Amherst scored two points on a safety behind Le-Roy's goal. Then, in the fourth quarter, LeRoy scored six points and it looked as if the game were ours; but with fifteen seconds left, Amherst scored from the one-foot line making it their game, 8-6.

In spite of the three losses, the five wins and the wonderful display of Le Roys sportsmanship and talent made this an exceptionally good season.

Our Le Roy Red and Black basketba'll team got off to a poor start this year, losing the first four games. A possible handicap was that we had only one basket and a half-court to practice on until mid-January, when the gymnasium was made ready for use. Journeying to Batavia for our third game, we put up an excellent fight and ended the first half leading, 28-27, but out-scored in the second half, we lost a thriller 52-59. With a few weeks of practice on our new court, we won our first game at Albion. Out-scored in the first half, 30-18, Le Roy looked bad, but the few weeks of practice began to show and we won 47-44. We lost our fifth game at the hands of a speedy Medina team, 41-48.

Coming home for our first game on our new hardwood, Le Roy defeated Perry with big John Jenner hooping 16. Le Roy, with the spirit of a new team, encountered Batavia for a return match in our gym. The regular game time ended in a tie, 55 all. Going into overtime, Le Roy proved superior, winning 58-55. The following night Dansville had an easy win over an exhausted Le Roy team. Le Roy made it a clear-cut victory, defeating Albion for the second time. Our conquest of Honeoye Falls and Fairport in the local gym gave us a split with these two for the season. Oakfield cut our sectional chances slim, defeating us on our own court, but we were still not out of the running. As we met Medina in our own gym for the title we had high hopes of winning. After trailing the whole game, Medina came back in the last ten seconds to make three quick points and win by one point, 40-41. This eliminated Le Roy from the sectionals. As we journeyed on, a revenge-seeking Le Roy team rolled over Perry with the highest score of the season, 60-36.

COACH MANGEFRIDA

Our varsity baseball team started the season off with a "bang" whipping Perry. Le Roy outhit the Perry team by a total of fourteen hits to a meager three for Perry. Veteran pitcher John Holthaus did a grand job of pitching. Bill Keefe and Bill Kelly led the team in hits, each having three.

In the second game Le Roy lost a close decision to Mt. Morris because of an eleventh inning rally by the opponents. Fran Ashley started the game but was relieved in the third inning because of a six run rally by the opponents. John Holthaus finished the game. The final score was seven to six.

Le Roy lost their first league game to a very spirited Medina team. Fran Ashley and John Holthaus gave up ten hits. The opponents score was increased by eight errors committed by the Le Roy team. The outstanding event of the game was a home run by fielder Brian Bower. The score at the end of the game was fifteen to one.

A very weak three hit attack again spelled defeat as Albion shut out the Red and Black in another league game. Albion scored two runs in each of the first three innings. After the third inning they were shut out by pitcher Holthaus. John pitched the entire game for Le Roy, giving up six hits and fanning three.

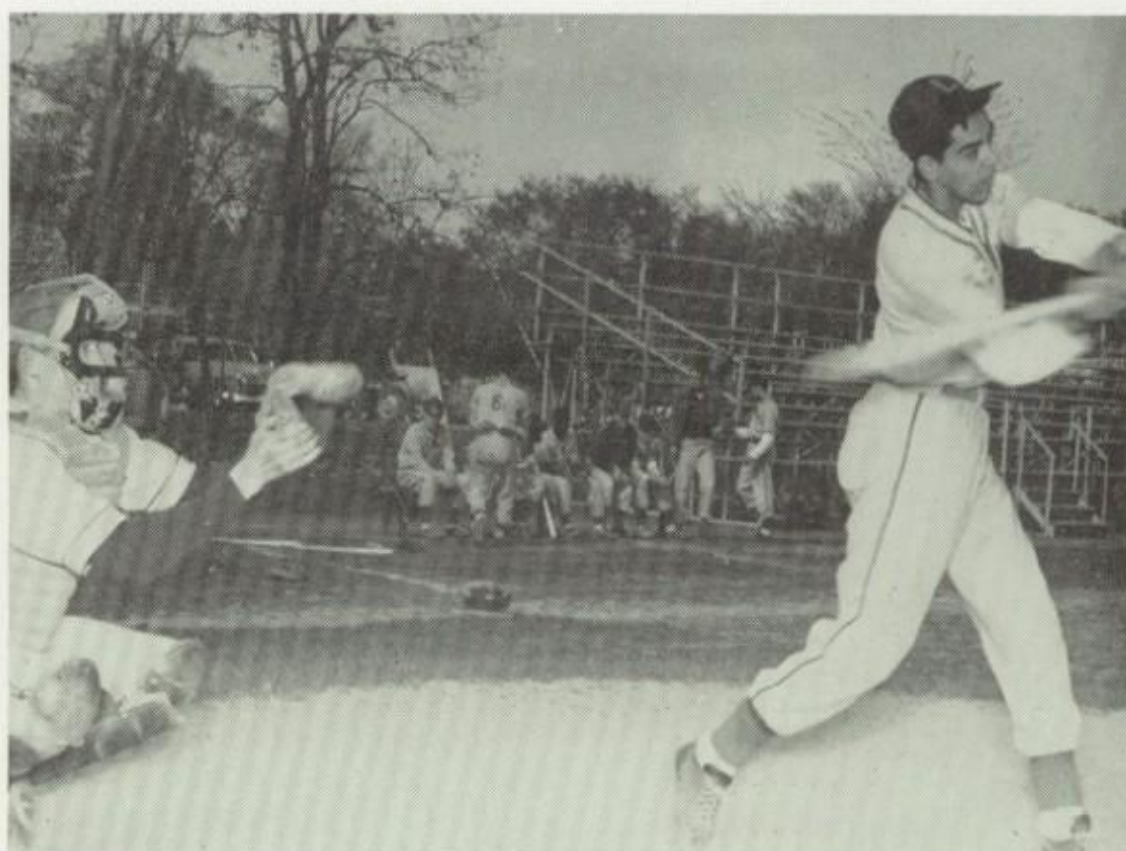

In the first meeting of the traditional Le Roy-Batavia two game series, Le Roy was defeated by a score of fifteen to one. The second game was played at Batavia where Le Roy again lost a thrilling game to the score of six to one. Holthaus and Ashley pitched in both games.

The team as usual is under the very able coaching of Mr. Mangefrida with Mr. Longhini assisting.

The J. V. football team had a sensational good season this year, winning all but one game. The team was very well coached by Mr. Barone who taught many good prospects for next years varsity team. The J. V.'s only setback was to Clarence, in a very close game, the opponents scoring their second touch-down in the last minute. The scores:

Our Junior Varsity Basketball team had a very successful season under the coaching of Mr. Longhini. They started the season slowly as did the varsity team, losing their first four games, but came back strongly in the latter part of the season. Jackson, Shefflin, Leach, Milne and Ianita led in scoring. The J. V.'s ended the season with a record of nine wins against seven losses.

COACHES LONGHINI AND CATALINO

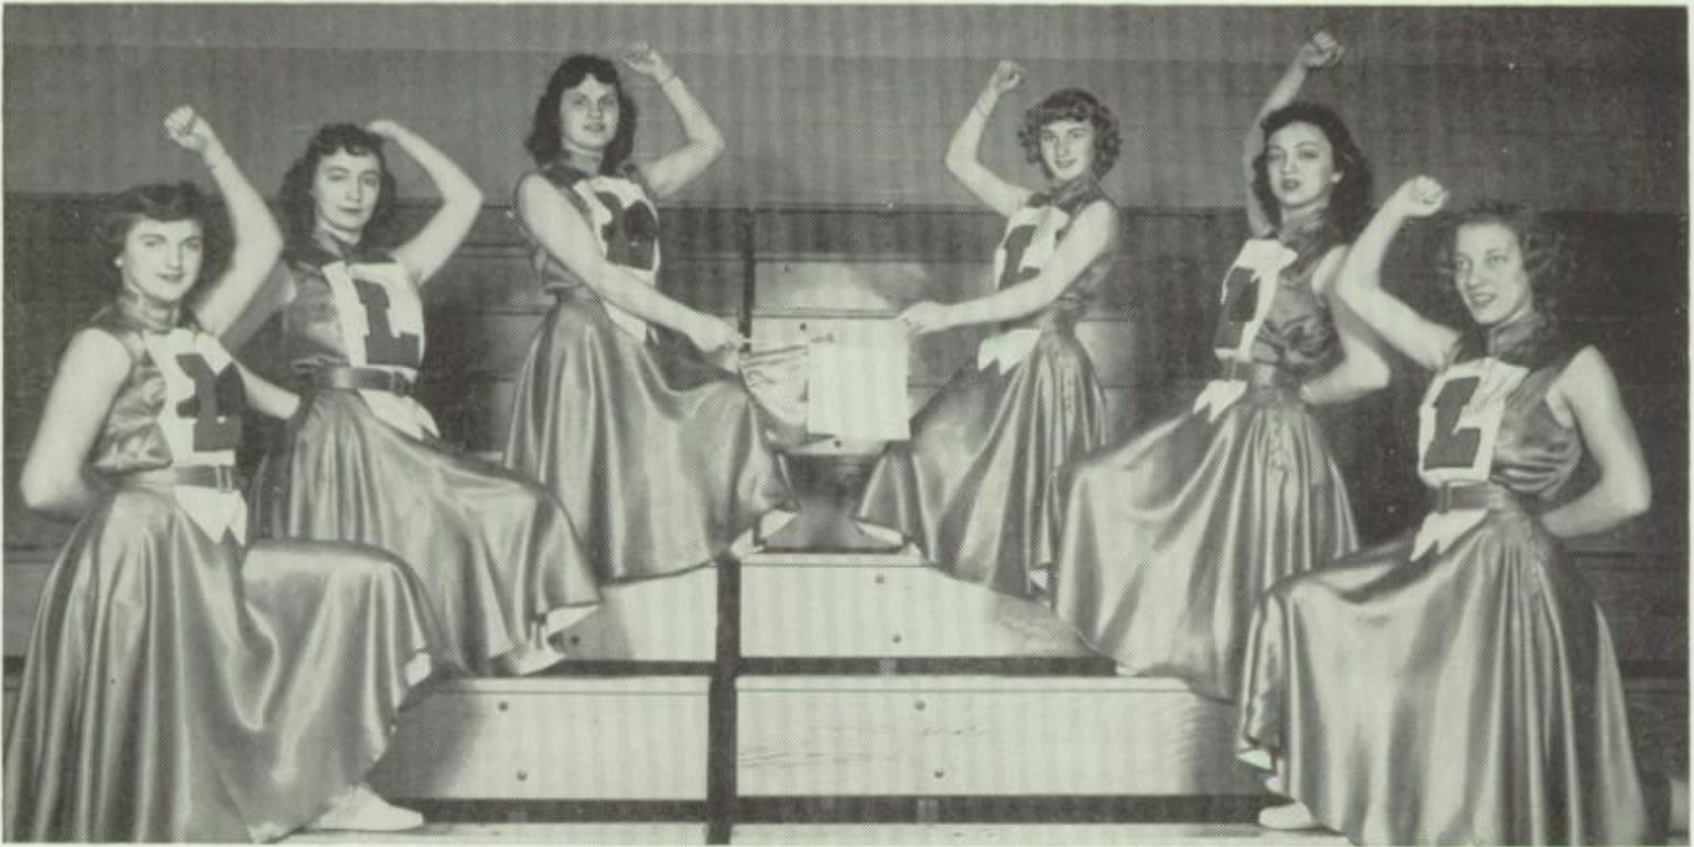

This year's Junior varsity baseball team started the season very well, beating Albion by a score of seven to two. The Le Royans showed they had very good hitting power but were weak in fielding, accounting for most of Albion's runs.

Next they played Pavilion where they lost a very close game by a score of six to five. Again Le Roy hit well but was sloppy in the field.

The team is under the direction of Coach Longhini and Assistant Coach Catalino. They have taught them many of the fundamentals of the game and will have many strong candidates ready for next year's varsity team.

The year, 1951-52 has been very successful in regard to the Girls Athletic Association, even though we didn't have a gym when school began. The "event of the year" was probably the switch to black jackets with red G. A. A. emblems on them.

Before summer vacation the girls of Le Roy High elected E. Paladino as president of the G. A. A. She was assisted by vice-president Barb Brodie, secretary, Virginia Myers, and treasurer, Fannie Bossart.

So many girls went out for bowling this year that Miss Dougan had to divide the girls into 16 teams, 3 nights a week. High scorers were Shonnie Frank with 173 and Grace Ann Symonds with 169.

During the course of the year we had 10 playdays and at each one a good time was had by all. The bowling playday was held in Le Roy and the five highest scorers, V. Corcimiglia, Ann Miller, G. A. Symonds, Betty Bossart and Evelyn Paladino, represented Le Roy and a fine job they did. The neighboring towns of Medina, Perry, Oakfield, Elba and Caledonia came to compete for the best bowling team. We were lucky this year to have the bowling team from the University of Buffalo present. Regardless of this good competition, we came out on top and took first place. Second place went to Elba and third to Perry.

After January we received our new gym and basketball started full swing with a very enthusiastic group of girls showing up faithfully for every game. In the frosh-soph league Marjorie Sanders, Elaine Messor, Eleanor O'Shea, Rita Sheffer, Patricia Barbeau and Betty J. Daniels headed the six teams. "Lil" Spadaro, Ingrid Wickenden, Nancy Frost, Eleanor Eppolito and Nancy Clark headed the five Jr.-Sr. teams.

Badminton and ping pong which were usually played were sacrificed because of the building project.

The Boys' Athletic Association is an organization made up of all the boys in High School. It has charge of all boys sports and must raise money to keep these sports in operation. The boys choose their officers who have as their duties the responsibilities of working out a well balanced program of intramural activities as well as the Varsity and J. V. sports. With the help of the physical education director, the officers must plan money raising campaigns and projects such as dances.

This year under the leadership of our able President, Dan Mooney, we held a dance on May 23, and a scrap drive on June 6. The money from these activities will go toward new uniforms for next year's teams.

The members of the B. A. A. belonging to the football team are honored each fall by two dinners held in their honor by the community. One is given by the Le Roy Business Men's Association and the other is a Spaghetti Supper given by Mr. Sam Frank. Also each year the Le Roy Business Men's Association gives a dinner for the Basketball Team.

The Village Recreation Commission sponsors Saturday morning basketball all during the winter months for all members of the B. A. A. In the spring, after high school baseball season is over, the Legion forms a local team and enters it in a county league.

Le Roy Central School is one of the few schools in Western New York to have a lacrosse team. Gloves, sticks, and helmets have been purchased for the team which just recently returned from a very exciting lacrosse game at Hobart.

With all variations of physical exercise from ping pong and golf to lacrosse and football, no group is left unrepresented in our sports activities.

Music

When Lowell Mason, the composer of "Nearer My God To Thee" and other great American hymns, convinced the school board of Boston in the 1830's that music was of great importance in the education of the young citizen, he laid the foundation of a phase of public education and community enterprise that is still growing in scope and prestige.

The members of that school board feared that music would divert the pupils from their regular tasks, but they found that those students who participated in the school music program "had an added zeal for other subjects." They thus recognized the psychological value of a healthy creative and recreational activity in an otherwise strict program of academic subjects.

The citizens of Boston and the citizens of Le Roy each in their own way are still profiting from Mason's pioneer venture. Musical performances in school, church, concert hall and the home have improved in quality, and home grown talent has been encouraged and trained which makes us no longer dependent on outside or foreign talent for the stage, radio, or television.

In a more subtle and personal way music has become a unifying force in the local and world community. At the music festivals people from all parts of the world can meet to participate in a common creative endeavor which rises above politics and race. Through the intimate medium of music our young people are made aware, as in no other way, of the greatness of our common heritage and the richness of our own contemporary culture. For music is alive long after its composer has left the scene, and it conveys more dramatically than the written word the atmosphere of the time in which it was conceived. It unites us with those who went before us, and will be one of our strongest ties with the citizens of the future.

Music, the great common denominator of the world's people, transcends all language barriers and all racial and political lines. Its beauty is felt by kings and poor men alike. Yet the people to whom it has the greatest personal meaning and value are those who have the ability to make music themselves. Our schools today are providing us with every opportunity to express ourselves through music and to share its power and majesty with those around us.

The music Department of Le Roy Central School presents several concerts during the year which are designed to appeal to the people of the community. The musical organizations are self-supporting. Their only revenue comes from ticket sales to these productions and from instrumental rental. A total of nearly 300 students, representing 50% of the high school's enrollment, participate in the various divisions of the department.

Two bands are included in the schools music program. While Junior Band serves mainly to prepare young musicians for berths in Senior Band, it always has its share of the Spring Concert program. The Senior Band has a very full schedule throughout the year getting ready for concerts, festivals and playing for the football games. It also takes part in Armistice and Memorial Day Parades. The Band went to the County Festival held this year in Batavia. This is always one of the high-spots in the year's musical activities.

The choruses have had a full program this year as always. Boys', girls' and mixed choruses presented their share of the musical entertainment in the Christmas Concert and the Folk Song Festival. They also participated in the County Festival in Batavia, and made a radio broadcast over station WBTA.

The school was well represented at the All-State sectional program in Holley. Those taking an active part in the concert were: Henry Barbeau, Martha Carr, Nancy Frost, Lois Handyside, Gloria Jackson, John Jenner, Samuel Leadley, Gary Johnston, Nancy Jones, Bernadine Kunego, Ronald Legg, Bruce Ludlum, Jeanne MacKenzie, Marlene MacKenzie, Rose Pace, Patricia Parton, Ann Patrick, Dorothy Russell, William Scott, Robert Selden and Carol Stettinius. Jeanne MacKenzie also represented our school at the final All-State Convention at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester.

Not to be forgotten are the Drum Majorettes who so ably led our band for parades and the football games. In the lead was William Scott, as Drum Major, accompanied by Sheila Booth, Betty Bossart, Barbara Brodie, Donna Drayo, Patricia Gartley, Shirley Jackson, and Amaryllis Rashko, the Majorettes.

This year will not be soon forgotten by the music students of Le Roy Central School. It has been a year not only full of work, but full of accomplishments as well. With Mr. Lane's constant support and untiring leadership, the Music Department experienced a successful and rewarding year and will achieve even greater things in the future.

The chorus, along with the band, made the Le Roy High School Christmas concert very enjoyable. The Girls' Glee Club sang a selection of four songs and the boys sang two. Included as one of the boys selections was the traditional "The Night Before Christmas." The mixed chorus presented "The Christmas Story," which was arranged by Mr. Lane. Louise Byers was this years accompanist.

Because of the lack of facilities this year, the traditional operetta was not performed. In its place the music organization had a Folksong Festival. The program consisted of exactly what the title implied, including a very spirited square dance.

The fall music festival this year was held at Holley, N. Y. Many of Le Roy High School's outstandingly musical Juniors and Seniors attended this festival. It was a two day affair, with rehearsals Friday afternoon and Saturday. The concert was held Saturday evening. Friday night a dance was held for all the participants, which all enjoyed very much.

Batavia High School was the scene of the annual County Chorus and Band this year. Approximately two hundred and fifty students attended this musical from Le Roy. A formal concert was given by the amateur musicians for the public, after a very spirited practice session during the day. Most of the student's parents attended this concert.

The choruses made two radio broadcasts this year, one at Christmas time and the other before the County Music Festival. WBTA—Batavia welcomed the Le Royans and helped them make a very successful performance.

One of the events which the high school choruses are looking forward to this year with much enthusiasm is the opportunity of singing at the Class Night activities.

The success which the Choruses have enjoyed this year is due, in no small part, to the very able direction of Mr. Lane.

The Seniors

Graduation is aptly called commencement. It is the sad closing of one door, but principally it is the opening of another to a vista more broad and more challenging than any we have faced before.

The seniors who read this book can, in their mind's eyes, retake the various steps from kindergarten through high school and relive the experiences which have made that journey so pleasant. It is our hope that the O-AT-KAN will act as a window in the door to the past which has just been closed.

But now the future is most important, and the community of LeRoy occupies our thoughts. We have trained in citizenship and we must now take our places in the community and put into practice those principles which we have learned.

With this thought in mind, the O-At-Kan takes great pride in presenting to the community of LeRoy its new citizens - the Class of 1952.

The Seniors

The things that make a good school are the same things that make a good senior class. In one sense a senior class, and the individuals in it, are the best measure of the success of a school system and a community.

As seniors we have come to realize that our success in our school life has not been entirely the result of our own hard work. We further realize that all of the fun we have had in school was possible through the efforts of many besides ourselves.

Certainly as seniors, we look back through our years of school with feelings of fondness and respect for teachers, administrators, the board of education, librarians, janitors, bus drivers, cafeteria workers and office personnel. We could not leave a single one unmentioned.

We are proud of the people in our class who have distinguished themselves. Many, as Rita Butera and Rose Marie Regone, who took attendance in senior homeroom, found important work to do for the school and on class committees. There were others who brought credit to us all for their outstanding, individual achievements.

Sponsored jointly by the Rotary Club and the American Legion Auxiliary, William Scott and James Ewart attended Boy's State; Virginia Myers and Evelyn Paladino attended Girls' State. Jeanne McKenzie won the privilege of playing in the All-State Band this year; Roger Thorkildsen represented LeRoy in the All-State Chorus in his Junior year. William Scott won the Bausch and Lomb award and later was a full-tuition scholarship winner at the Maxwell School of Citizenship Conference. Dennis Fanning and William Scott were our able class presidents during high school, each holding office two years. James Ewart, a typical good school citizen, was elected president of the National Honor Society. Eleven other seniors were members. We had some fine team captains, too. Donald Poles and Franklin Cooper co-captained football; Richard Landcastle was basketball captain. No less important than our fine athletic teams in 1951-52

were our peppy and attractive senior cheer leaders: Evelyn Paladino, Bridget Frank, Rose Marie Antinore and Dorothy Russe'l.

While we speak with pride of outstanding individuals, we are proud of what each of us has done to make the class of 1952 one that we hope the school and community will not forget for a while. We have all worked on suppers, dances, at football games and taken part in contests, programs and work wherever possible.

We have worked for the benefit of the community and they have worked for us. We have profited from countless guidance talks by local businessmen, inspected business firms and industries. The Rotary Club entertained us at luncheon and we had the unusual privilege of spending a half day as individual guests of Rotary members. Students were also given the opportunity to stand-in for village officers. These were gestures that made real sense to us. We knew from them that someone besides our parents thought high school students were important enough to give time to.

We now face the future. Of course we face it more humbly than we thought we would as sophmores. And we face quite different futures. Many of us plan on future education. Some of us will find positions in LeRoy businesses and industries. Some look forward to marriage. Most of the fellows anticipate military service. Whatever the future brings, we will always look back on these school days as an invaluable asset in facing our responsibilities.

As a final parting gesture the least we can say to our parents, our school and our community, who have stood by us when we disappointed them as well as when we pleased them, is thanks for twelve of the best years of our lives.

Advertising

The American people have been exposed to all sorts of schemes that have come from the over-active imaginations of these people known as hucksters. These little-known people are the professional advertising agents who have both riled and soothed us in their endless attempts to get us to buy various commodities and services.

The advertisers in this Yearbook have not resorted to fancy words or clever tactics in appealing to you as customers. They have, instead, paid a substantial part of the cost of printing a most worthwhile book quite content with the hope that you will recognize them as community spirited citizens engaged in businesses which have contributed to community prosperity and which offer services that people need.

The students of Le Roy extend hearty thanks to all businesses and organizations presented in this Yearbook. It is the hope of the students that the wide reading of this book will serve the advertisers well, that there will be a return in good-will and patronage to those who have stood by the publication of the Le Roy High School O-AT-KAN through all the years.

Le Roy Industry

American industry is the marvel of the world. From the days of the grist mill, saw mill, railroad and canal, communities have been established where industry paved the way. Industry has always meant progress.

Le Roy's industries have put our small town on the map. However, that is less important than the fact that, directly and indirectly, through them Le Roy has become a good place in which to live.

Our industries are sufficiently diversified to give our community economic stability in good times and in less prosperous times. They have created jobs which employ a large segment of our population. They have brought to us people of widely varying talents and skills. They provide a taxable wealth which makes possible the material assets needed to educate youth and adults and provide many other community facilities. They provide leadership in many aspects of community life.

Le Roy's industries serve our community and our school well.

HICKEY - FREEMAN CO.

The Hickey-Freeman Co. of Le Roy, one of the five main branches whose main office is located in Rochester, was started in Le Roy on September 3, 1947. It was located in the hall of St. Joseph's Church on Lake St. About four months later it moved to the present location, a short distance down the street. They employ thirty-two women and a janitor. The job of these women is to hand sew parts of men's suits; such as, the buttonholes, finishing of lapels, lining of sleeves and pants. The quality of these Hickey-Freeman suits is well known throughout the country, and Le Roy is honored to have it as one of its industries.

DESCRIBE Le Roy to a stranger. Tell him of the many things that make "Le Roy a Good Place to Live." The modern school system . . . attractive homes . . . fine churches . . . the postoffice . . . library . . . theatre . . . auditorium and recreation center . . . the clubs and fraternal organizations . . . busy main street . . . five railroads . . . the top notch industries. Mention the neighborliness, civic pride and team work that make Le Roy hum; all this in a beautiful rural setting. The stranger will find this hard to believe.

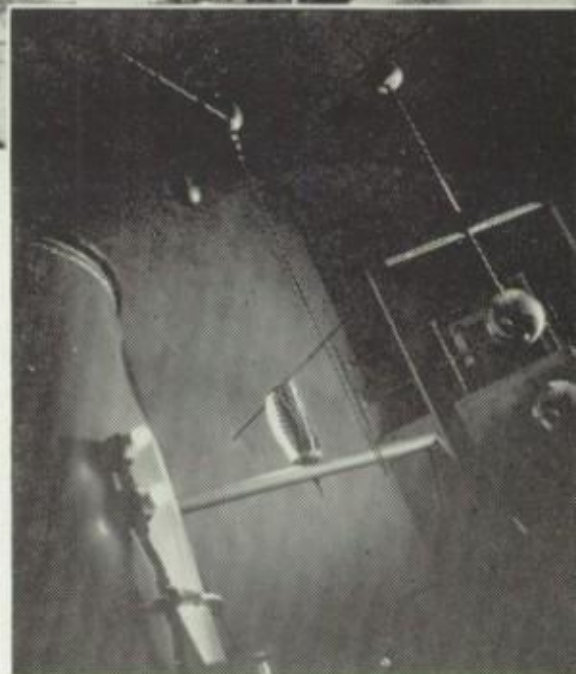

THIRTY-FIVE years ago Lapp Insulator came to Le Roy. Like the stranger, they found it hard to believe. But, impressed, they decided here was the place to build their plant. Today, Lapp men and women enjoy the satisfaction of seeing products of their manufacture shipped all over the world, supplying the needs of the armed forces, the electrical, chemical and radio industries . . .

Products like insulators to control and support transmission lines carrying high-voltage electricity from its source to homes and factories miles away . . . Porcelain insulators tested for strengths up to 3,500,000 pounds, to support radio transmitter towers as high as 1200 feet . . .

Pumps, valves and piping for handling corrosive chemicals so necessary for the manufacture of drugs, fabrics, plastics and other items of everyday life. And Lapp, like Le Roy, has many advantages to the citizen. Company life insurance, hospitalization, surgical and pensions are free to all employees. Paid vacations, holidays and advancement are important extras at Lapp.

Modern equipment and processes speed and ease the work. Safe, clean conditions in bright, airy surroundings contribute to the health and safety of employees.

This, with continuing research for new and improved products and markets, good employee-management relations plus, a mutual respect and pride in company, product and home town, make "Lapp a Good Place to Work."

JELL-O

Jell-O has been a household word in Le Roy and in the nation for half a century. To children it has meant a dessert; to employees, a most satisfying opportunity to work and live in Le Roy. To the general public it can serve as an illustration of how free private enterprise has developed in this country.

The story of Jell-O, since 1897, is one involving several people who occasionally had their doubts whether gelatin desserts could ever be successfully sold. Pearl Wait was the first to develop a gelatin dessert using the patent acquired by Peter Cooper. The business changed hands in 1899 when it was purchased by Orator Woodward. Mr. Woodward momentarily thought he had made a great mistake and even tried to sell the business for a paltry $35. No one took up his offer. It was not long after, when Mr. Woodward realized the tremendous possibilities of developing a Jell-O business. For within one year gross sales reached $250,000.00 and in seven years the business topped the million dollar mark. In 1925 Jell-O became a division of General Foods Corporation.

Today the Le Roy plant employs about 335 Le Royans and has an annual payroll of nearly a million dollars. Progressive in the field of employer-employee relations, the company has provided such benefits as disability compensation, retirement plan, and plant recreational facilities which are seldom equalled in plants the same size. Worker safety is furthered by company participation in Western New York Safety Organization, The Associated Industries of New York and the National Safety Council as well as safety programs in each department of the whole plant. One, two, or three weeks of vacation, depending on years of service, is granted to each employee.

Organizations of employees, having departmental representation, plan, and carry out a year 'round program of recreation and fun—including a yearly picnic, a clambake, a Christmas party and a spring dance. These activities are examples of the pleasant and profitable contributions which the industry makes to the individual employees and to the happiness and welfare of the whole community.

The Jell-O company has very unselfishly rendered services to the community which have been greatly appreciated. Two in particular are the loaning of the company's recreation room as headquarters for the blood mobile donor campaign twice a year and the tours of the plant that students from high school are permitted to make in relation to their school studies. A particular and sizeable contribution to the community is the $9,000.00 in taxes paid yearly as the company's share of the tax burden. This large amount greatly reduces taxes for the individual property owners.

The success of the Jell-O industry over the past fifty years with its expanded production, which now includes making many varieties of Jell-O pudding, has brought increasing prosperity to the village of Le Roy and to the surrounding communities. We can feel confident that this organization will continue to serve the community as well and as faithfully as it has always done.

History of the Union Steel Chest Corporation

Fifty-eight years ago, in 1893, a small Company was formed in Rochester, New York to manufacture drafting tables, machinists' tool chests and other wood specialties.

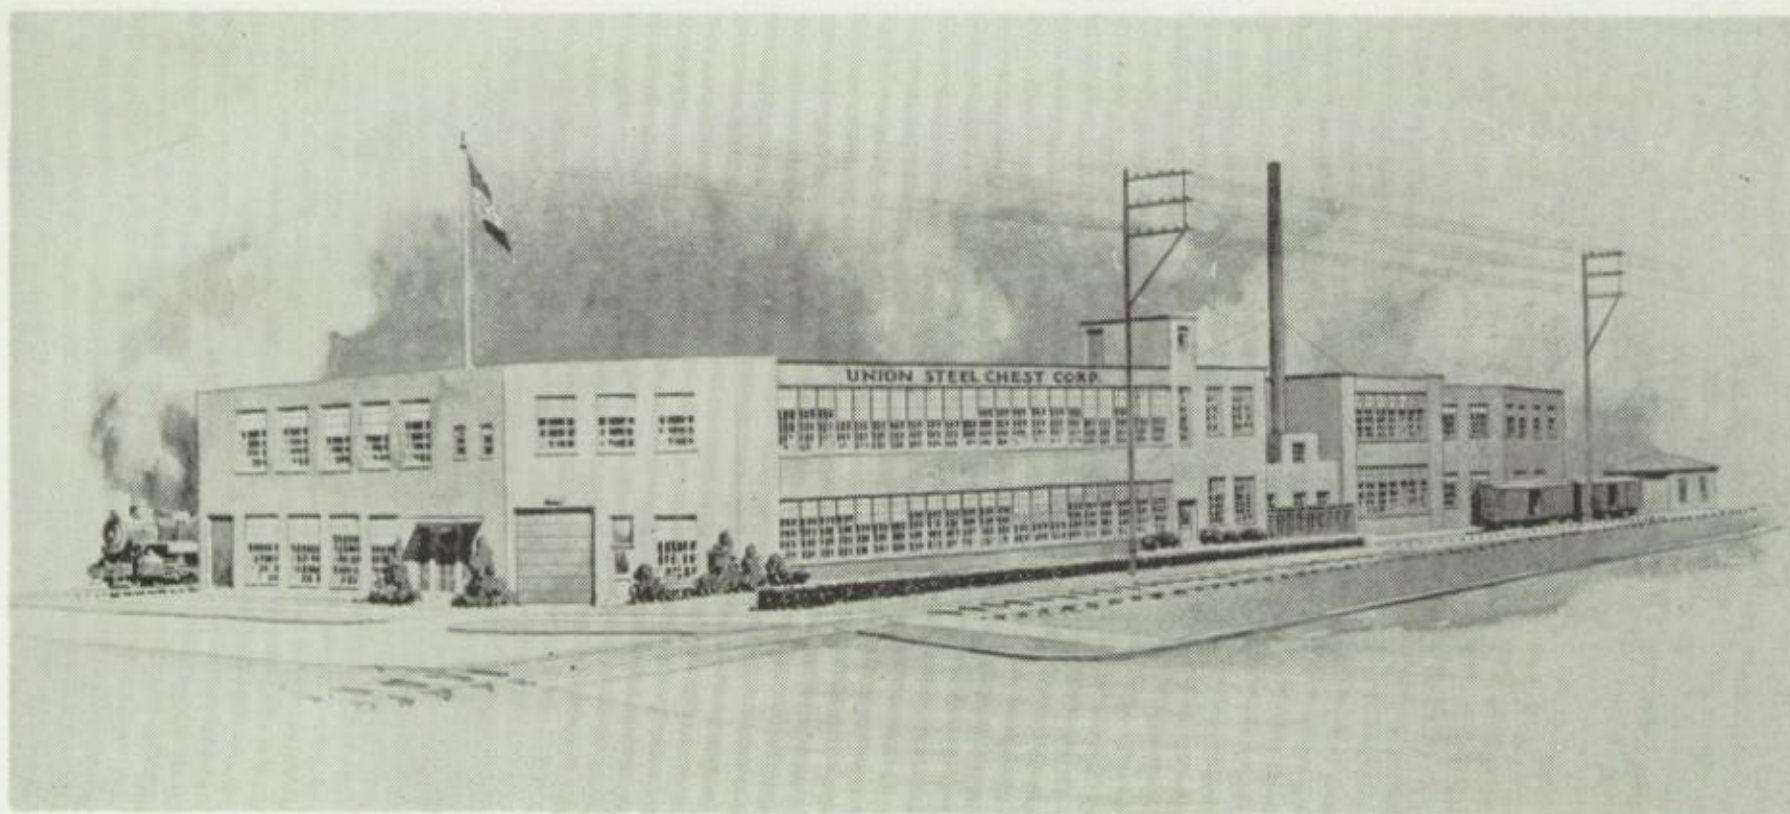

This concern grew slowly but steadily and in time was purchased by Gilman N. Perkins of Rochester and expanded into the Union Steel Chest & Cabinet Corp. which occupied a large multi-story building on Hand Street in Rochester.

The enlarged operations of this concern included the manufacture of radio cabinets, instrument cases, and other special wood boxes; also one of the early lines of domestic ironing machines. The original line of hardwood machinists' tool chests was expanded to a very extensive group of chests for tool makers, pattern makers and others using precision tools.

In the early 1920's a steel fabricating division was added and the Company placed the first mass-produced steel tool boxes on the market. This line ranged from low-priced household tool chests to larger and heavier tool chests for the many new mechanics in the rapidly growing mechanical trades after World War I. This new line met with instant success and has proven very popular to the present time.

In 1930, it was decided to discontinue the woodworking division of the business and the metal fabricating division was purchased outright by Messrs. Seely F. Pratt, Orrin J. Mitchell and Gilman C. Perkins, who formed a new company under the name of Union Steel Chest Corporation, which properly identified its operations.

The new company did not need the very large building used by its predecessor and canvassed the smaller towns and villages in the vicinity of Rochester in an effort to locate a satisfactory manufacturing location. Messrs. Pratt, Mitchell and Perkins were agreed it would be more pleasant and better operating conditions could be found in a small community. After surveying a large number of small communities in Western New York, it was decided to locate in Le Roy, due largely to the favorable location of the village in relation to larger centers such as Rochester and Buffalo, excellent transportation facilities, a suitable building for manufacturing, and also financial assistance and cooperation of many Le Royans.

The Union Steel Chest Corporation started operations in the former Donald Woodward cotton mills on Church Street in Le Roy in 1932, manufacturing the already established line of steel tool chests and utility chests. The line was steadily expanded to include cash boxes, personal file chests, and later, fishing tackle boxes.

Steady growth in demand for the company's products was accomplished through twenty-six sales representatives operating throughout the United States and Canada and by numerous foreign agents in all parts of the world. Need for additional manufacturing space necessitated building additions to the original factory building in 1934, 1937, and again in 1940.

In March, 1949, fire almost completely destroyed the company's manufacturing facilities, but a new modern plant was built immediately and production was resumed in November of the same year. The new plant is said to be the finest in the country devoted exclusively to the manufacture of steel tool boxes and allied products.

In the meantime, two of the founders of the present company had passed away—Seely F. Pratt in January, 1949 and Gilman C. Perkins in December, 1947. The present officers of the company are Orrin J. Mitchell Sr., President and Samuel A. Myers, Secretary-Treasurer.

Since starting operations in Le Roy, over 13 million tool boxes, utility chests, and other types of metal boxes have been produced at the Union Steel Chest Corporation and distributed throughout the world. Many of these were used by the Armed Forces in World War II and are being used in the present defense effort.

Currently, the company employs about 125 men and women from Le Roy and vicinity and has an annual payroll of upwards of a half million dollars. Employment is steady as the seasonal factor connected with fishing tackle boxes is offset by increased demand for tool chests and other products during other seasons.

Le Roy has been good to the Union Steel Chest Corporation, and the company has been good for Le Roy.

The first trade mark obtained by the latter is dated January 14, 1879, and covers an imitation nest egg. Various proprietary medicines were added from time to time, the best known being Kemp's Balsam, a nationally advertised cough syrup.

The present building, which houses Kemp & Lane, Inc., was built in 1919. In 1927, the Orangeine Chemical Company of Chicago was purchased and merged with Kemp & Lane and in 1929 the S. B. Goff & Sons Company of Camden, N. J., was also absorbed. This latter company, besides manufacturing proprietary medicines, also made salt water taffy. This product is now sold by organizations, such as schools, churches, Y.M.C.A.'s, etc., throughout the United States.

Service Enterprises

Service is a motto of most Le Roy businessmen. This makes Le Roy a prosperous shopping center.

Our businesses which specialize in services give service par excellence. These businesses include printing concerns, service stations, and garages, realtors, insurance agents, utilities, dry cleaners and specialists. They supply us with every-day needs.

A quick glance at the advertising that follows will tell their story well. These businesses and the men and women who are employed in them are important citizens. Several men and women among them have talked to high school students in the classrooms and guidance groups. They provide many opportunities for part-time and full-time work for Le Roy students and graduates.

We recognize these businessmen for their value to the community both as businessmen and citizens.

COMMUNITY DRY CLEANERS

The Community Dry Cleaners, located at 72 Main Street, is owned and operated by two well known Le Royans, Samuel and Anthony Forti, both graduates of Le Roy High School. They started their business May 3, 1947.

When the Forti brothers started in business, there was no location in Le Roy available for a plant. They were able to locate a building with plenty of room for expansion in Bergen.

Through a period of years it has been proven that having the plant located in Bergen has given advantages to both the customers and owners. The location is now in the center of their business enterprises. By having the plant away from their main sources of business, the owners are able to spend more time on the finishing of garments. That is why every garment that comes into our shop gets that "extra" service for which the Community Dry Cleaners is well known.

On September, 1948, misfortune struck and their plant was totally destroyed by fire. The Forti brothers didn't give up and immediately they had a larger fireproof building constructed. New equipment was installed and today they are proud to have the most modern dry cleaning plant in Western New York.

We are proud of the fine group progress toward "better living" that has taken place in Le Roy. We are thinking of the many new homes, the wonderful school editions, club houses, the two new county hospitals, many fine stores, the new factories and new additions to our factories. All these things make Le Roy a finer and more attractive place to live.

Five years ago the Community Dry Cleaners started business. Although still a young organization we have increased the number of employees and have added storage and laundry service to our services. Constant progress has been made at our plant which has made it possible for us to give the utmost in Dry Cleaning Service. We will continue to improve our services as new equipment and techniques are developed.

One of our biggest contributions to the community of Le Roy is the addition of Berlou Moth Proofing service. This moth proofing service is not something that has to be done every time a garment is cleaned. Once a garment is treated we are able to guarantee in writing the garment moth proof for five years. We have moth proofed over 50% of the woollens in Le Roy saving thousands of dollars in moth damage.

Our business shows that you appreciate our work, we thank you again.

GAZETTE-NEWS COMPANY

The Le Roy Gazette was established in 1826, and has been continuously published as a weekly newspaper since that time. The Le Roy News was founded in 1899 and the two were merged into the Le Roy Gazette-News in 1912, when the present Gazette-News Company was incorporated by Edward M. Perkins, who had purchased both papers.

I. O. Balch founded the Gazette, when meager equipment was brought to Le Roy by ox teams from Canandaigua. That newspaper publishing in those days was a precarious venture is attested by the fact there were nine owners and editors in the 14 years ending in 1840. C. B. Thompson bought the paper in 1840 and was owner and editor until 1885. George E. Marcellus then purchased the paper and continued until 1912.

It was not until 1925 that the publication owned the roof over its head, when the present building on Bank street was erected. The building was especially designed for publishing and printing, and was made necessary by the increasing commercial printing business.

The O-AT-KAN represents one of the many types of printing produced by the Gazette-News Company. Color work is done extensively in catalogs and in literature in the Lyceum entertainment field.

We deem it an honor in our 126th year to be recognized as "Le Roy's Oldest Industry."

The Townsend Oil Company was founded Oct. 1, 1921. On April 1, 1922 we inaugurated tank truck delivery of gasoline, kerosene, fuel oil and lubricating oils to farmers and commercial customers. It was also at this time that we began the operation of, The Grove Service Station. The Bank Street Station was built in 1924 and we also moved from Main Street to our present office on Bank Street. The Bank Street Service Station was operated by us until 1944 when it was leased to Paul Kennedy. The Grove Service Station was also operated by us until 1946 when it was leased to Ray Papke.

The needs of our customers are taken care of by three tank trucks and one panel truck, used for the delivery of motor oil and grease. We are the oldest distributor of Pennzoil products in New York State and the second oldest in the United States.

At the present time there are 11 people employed by us. Nine of them local people and two from surrounding towns.

SMITH TRUCK LINES

The Smith Truck Lines was established at Victor, N. Y. in 1909 by A. W. Smith. Motor trucks, as we see them today, were unknown at that time; all long distance transportation was by railroad or waterways, and the truckmen or "draymen", as they were called, transported, with horses and wagons, various commodities between factories and the railroads and between the merchants' establishments and the railroads.

In 1916 Mr. Smith moved his business to Le Roy, at which time he owned one motor truck and several horse-drawn vehicles.

Today, 43 years after the inception of the business, it is still owned and operated by the Smith family. The equipment now consists of several large trailer-trucks which transport many of the products made in Le Roy to the metropolitan areas of the eastern United States, and these same trucks bring back on return trips various raw materials which are used by Le Roy manufacturers.

As one of Le Roy's older businesses, Smith Truck Lines has become a vital link in the economic life of this community and of western New York.

POWERS INSURANCE AGENCY

The Powers Insurance Agency has served the Le Roy area faithfully for many years though part of the time it was under another name. It was founded in 1932 as the Watts Agency. It served under this name for 14 years. In 1946 it was taken over by Edward Powers who has managed it since that time. They carry all lines of insurance and, like all other agencies, are licensed to serve in New York state.

O'GEEN PRESS

The O'Geen Press, run by Louis and Vic O'Geen, started in 1939 as a part time business, which was run at night and in their spare time. Their shop was on Bacon Street and occupied a space of ten feet by fifteen feet. Business was temporarily halted in 1942 when Vic was serving in the Army. Business began operating on a full time basis in 1945 at 110 Lake Street in a modern shop with the best of printing equipment. The O'Geen Press prints the Le Roy Advertiser, office forms and many other types of forms and programs.

G. L. F. ACCOUNTING OFFICE

An outstanding business establishment in Le Roy is the G. L. F. In operation since August 24, 1944, this office had maintained a staff of Le Roy girls until March 4, 1945, when a fire swept the block. Renovated in 1945, this office continued its outstanding accomplishments in accounting for forty-five (45) other offices, under the direction of Lyman Wilcox.

H. STEUBER & SON

The firm of H. Steuber and Son dates back to soon after 1876 when Frank Steuber joined his father Henry Steuber in the furniture and undertaking business. Upon Frank's untimely death, another son, Louis W. Steuber then in Ohio, returned to Le Roy in 1891, joining his father, and continued in the business.

Upon the death of his father, Henry Steuber, in 1905 Louis became sole owner and continued to operate the business until 1938 when he took in partnership his two employees, Stanley M. Crocker and Donald E. Steinmetz, the present owners, he having passed away in 1945.

In 1943 the firm discontinued the furniture business, purchased the former T. W. Larkin home to provide a funeral home, and are continuing under the firm name established 75 years ago—H. Steuber & Son, Funeral Directors.

It was a natural outgrowth of his trade, that Henry Steuber was in the undertaking business, he being a cabinet maker and in those days making caskets. This led to the care of the deceased and the building of what we now call Funeral Directing. He has also made much of the furniture sold in his store, many pieces of which are still in this section as fine antiques.

PAVILION NATURAL GAS COMPANY

The Pavilion Natural Gas Company was organized in 1905 after the discovery of natural gas in the town of Pavilion. A pipe line was constructed to Le Roy and the natural gas service was begun in 1907. Except for the decade in 1927-1937 during which a mixture of manufactured and natural gas was served, Le Roy had been supplied with natural gas until the present time. The major portion of the gas used today in homes and industry comes to Le Roy from Texas, via large diameter pipe lines.

C. B. DERRICK & SON

The business was established in 1916 by Charles B. Derrick who had learned his trade with his brother in Richfield Springs, N. Y. Starting as a small one man shop at that time, it has grown over the years to include one full time stone cutter besides C. B. Derrick, his son Leslie (L.H.S. 1925) and his wife Dorothy Decker Derrick (also L.H.S. 1925); also office and shop workers. The plant not only included tools for old-time hand cutting, which is almost a thing of the past, but also modern sandblasting and designing equipment with the necessary handling devices such as are found in the better plants throughout the country. Business in general is done within 25 miles of Le Roy, but over the years orders have been handled from almost every state in the Union. Most granite comes from the state of Vermont but materials are cut which have come from various European countries, and many western states as far off as California. Memorials from small personal grave markers to large, many-pieced monuments covering many square feet of surface have been cut in the Myrtle Street plant. Much of the designing is done in their own drafting room. The plaque for the new school auditorium was designed and placed by this firm.

Professions

Into the hands of the men listed at the right, we daily place our freedom, our health, our possession, our very lives and welfare. To them Le Roy owes a debt which is not always recognized.

The men of medicine have dedicated their lives to the preservation and protection of the health of each member of our community, or, as in the case of veterinarians, the care of the animals upon which so much of our general well being and pleasure depends. Healthy, energetic children, happy, capable adults, prosperous, productive farms, are the aims of these particular professions. No members of our community are more essential, no members contribute more to its well being than do these men.

All the professional men listed on the opposite page have contributed more than their particular professions demand of them, for their arduous years of training and education have well fitted them to become community leaders. The tasks contingent upon leadership, they have always shouldered willingly and capably.

Merchant's Section

The independent businessman, whether a merchant or engaged in providing services, is an American symbol. He is a symbol of free private enterprise. He represents a goal of independence which is attainable by any of the present generation who are willing not only to work hard at business matters, but also to assume the responsibilities of an active community citizenship.

The independent businessmen of Le Roy represent opportunity that is denied many people in other countries of the world.

We salute Le Roy businessmen individually for their close cooperation with the school's aim of training tomorrow's citizens and recognize the inestimable good which they achieve through the Rotary Club and the Businessmen's Organizations.

The Rotary Club's traditional Halloween parade, annual entertainment, scholarships for Le Roy graduates, weekly invitations to Le Roy students to lunch with them are typical examples of the many things businessmen are doing for the school and community.

Le Roy's merchants have furnished information in the pages that follow that will help you to know them better and perhaps help you to appreciate, to a greater extent than before, their significance to our community in the past and present.

STERLING DINER

The diner itself was moved from the grove and attached to the house, where it now stands, in 1941.

The house itself is very old, probably well over the hundred year mark. It has quite an interesting history. It must have been a lovely home at one time, with the huge barn and the towering trees. Even after we moved to Le Roy in 1943 remnants could be seen in the back yard of a vast old fashioned flower garden. Now it has all been plowed under and is a big parking lot.

In 1885 the property was purchased by Thomas W. Larkin for the Le Roy Chemical home. It was sold by him to Doctor McPherson, and by him to Doctor Ganiard. It became known as the Ganiard estate. M. J. Lally purchased the estate in 1927 and fitted it up for "Lally's Tavern".

It was at that time when the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who was then the Governor of New York State, stopped here with his party and ate.

The room that is the kitchen now was a dining room then, with a lovely fireplace, white mantle and green velvet drapes. It was known as the green room then and that is supposed to be the room in which the ex-president and his party had their luncheon.

During World War II we fed the Italian and the German prisoners. It was quite a spectacular sight to witness, with guards armed with machine guns standing at every entrance. Then, after they had gone, we fed the Jamacians three meals a day while they were employed by the Haxton Canning Company.

Now the house has been modernized and the restaurant caters mostly to the working class of people throughout the year, and the tourists through the summer.

A Communication Received by the O-At-Kan Staff from the Le Roy Elm Dairy

We should like to outline briefly the history of the Le Roy Elm Dairy and its products.

The Elm Dairy was formed and began operations on November 1, 1943. Prior to this time much of the milk used by the good people of Le Roy and vicinity was processed in some old shed or barn that was far from being sanitary. It was Mr. Metcalf's idea to give our customers the very best bottled milk that could be produced. Therefore, on August 1, 1945, we moved into our present building. It is considered to be the cleanest, most sanitary and modern dairy of its kind and size in this section of the U. S. Tiled walls and floors make it possible to clean every part of this plant.

The Elm Dairy was the first to introduce the cellophane-covered bottle cap in Genesee County as well as the first to introduce the square bottle. We were also the first to supply our customers with homogenized milk.

When it comes to ice cream we take no "back seat" to any of the well advertised brands. We use nothing but the very best cream and other dairy products. We always use pure fruits and nuts and never use synthetic flavors.

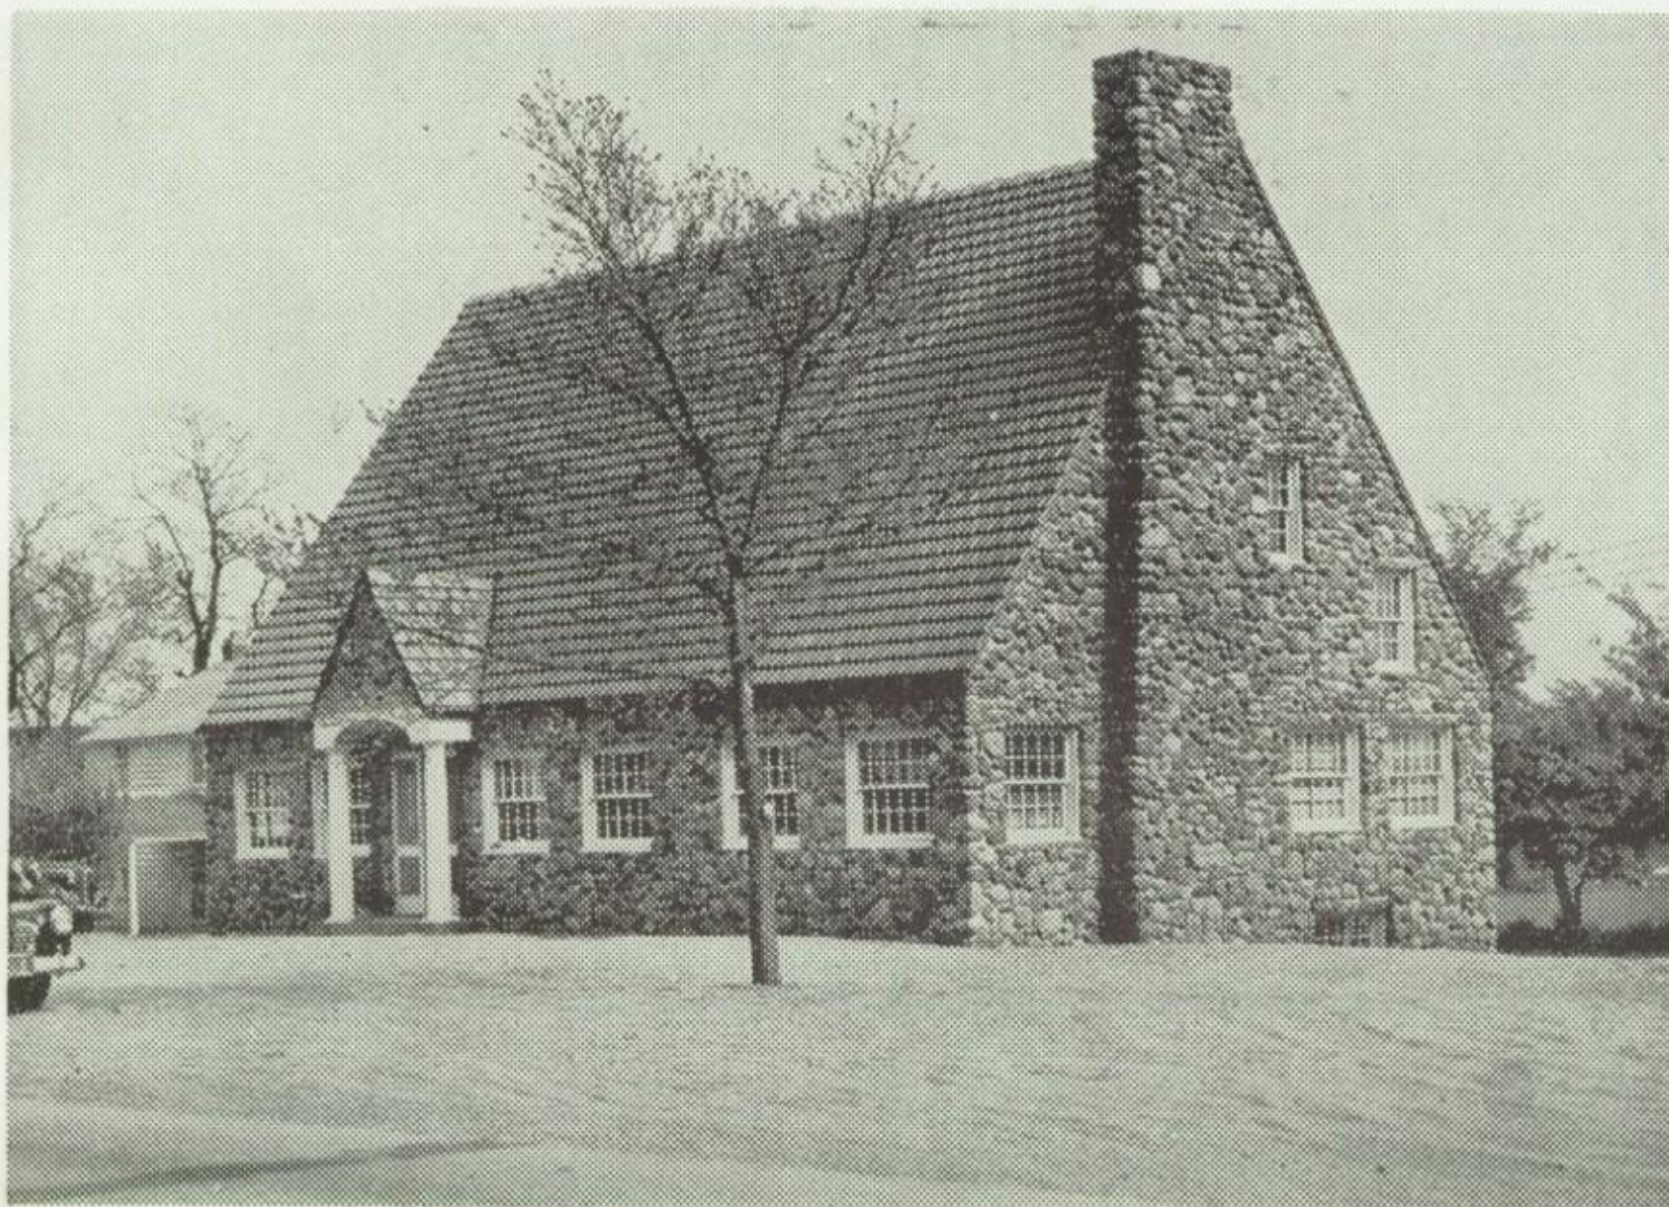

If you enjoy a little break after the game, let us direct you toward the Route 20 Milk Bar, where all kinds of light lunches are served. Try their pancakes and ham or sausage.

For a delicious full course dinner visit the Red Osier Restaurant. Here you will find such tasty items as chicken pie, steak, roast turkey and sea foods in season. You will never leave the table hungry. All their ice cream, as well as all other dairy products, comes from the Le Roy Elm Dairy right here in Le Roy.

Our motto is to please you by serving you the very best of everything in the finest of food.

Come in and see us soon. You are always welcome.

LOCATED ON ROUTE 5,
THREE MILES WEST OF LE ROY, N. Y.

The Red Osier Restaurant was established in 1940 by Mr. Whitlock of Stafford. It closed during the war years because of a lack of tourists. It was reopened on October 11, 1949 by Mr. Charles Metcalf of the Le Roy Elm Dairy, under the management of Mr. Harold Lytle.

The Red Osier is well known all over Western New York for their chicken pie and home cooked foods. They feature private service for weddings, clubs and special occasions.

OWNED AND OPERATED BY SAMUEL FRANK

The Le Roy Dinette, consisting of a Soda Fountain and Snack Bar located at 7 Main Street, started in business in June 1950.

Since then it has become one of the main meeting places for high school students and adults alike. The Dinette, well known for its food and ice cream, is open from 8 A. Clark's enterprises have been established in Le Roy for 53 years. They have continually expanded, rendering good service and consumer consideration. Clark's Grocery, located on South Street out of heavy traffic, is virtually a one stop shopping center where quality and low prices reign supreme.

At Clark's Restaurant on Bank Street excellent food and beverages are courteously served.

The community can be proud of Clark's enterprises, which represent the vital part that home-owned businesses play in community life.

HEAMAN CLOTHING COMPANY

In 1921, Le Roy witnessed the beginning of one of its finest business institutions when Mr. George A. Heaman established his men's clothing shop. Joined in 1926 by Mr. Sheldon E. Beadle and Mr. Maurice F. Ballard, the Heaman Clothing Company became famous, not only in Le Roy, but also in the surrounding communities for its original line of men's clothing.

PAUL & WANSOR

This agricultural implement agency has been serving area farmers for the past 16 years. World famous Minneapolis Moline Tractors are sold and serviced by competent agents. It has been 40 years in business for the Forti's. The business was started by Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Forti whose aim was to give all of their children an education. They operated the business while the children, nine in all, were going to school. In 1932, when Mrs. Forti died, the eldest daughter took over and it has since been operated by the children.

The original aim of schooling for their children has been accomplished in that all nine children have graduated from Le Roy High School and some have advanced to medicine, teaching and religion, while others continue in business.

This is the main purpose of the "Forti Award". It is a recognition to a boy or girl who has attained his Diploma despite having outside work and home responsibilities.

Out of Town Advertisers

In a business world having a high degree of specialized labor, specialized tastes, specialized sales and services we become aware as consumers and citizens that communities depend upon one another, as we depend on one another as individuals, even as nations depend on one another.

The out-of-town advertisers in this Yearbook offer many services and commodities not available in our own community. Their presence in nearby communities and cities is a distinct advantage to all Le Royans. Through the following pages you may learn the whereabouts of many businesses which may serve you or organizations to which you belong.

In most cases these advertisers have helped with the expenses of the OATKAN over a period of years. This is their way of extending a friendly welcome to you.

THE PAVILION STATE BANK

The business of banking was originally started in Pavilion from a "suitcase", so to speak. An officer of the bank in Wyoming, New York, came to Pavilion on the train and conducted banking business in a small way from a supply of cash he carried in a suitcase. This was done in a combination ice cream parlor and Post Office. He returned to Wyoming on the next train going south. Later this officer persuaded the owners of the Wyoming Bank to construct a building in Pavilion for the purpose of extending a greater service to the community. In 1928 a State charter was issued to The Pavilion State Bank. Total assets at that time were a little over $650,000.00. As of December 31, 1951 the bank had grown to a little over two million. It furnishes cash for its customers, assists them to purchase farms, homes, livestock, tools, cars, and other consumer goods, just to mention a few. It also furnishes a safe place for them to place excess cash which they may need at some time in the future. The community aids the bank by their continued patronage in depositing funds and borrowing for worthwhile projects. This assists in our growth and thus enables us to give greater and broader services as well as furnishing jobs and employment by the business concerns.

In Appreciation

We would like to take this opportunity to express our appreciation to all those who have helped us so much in producing this publication. To the photographer, Mr. Phillip Tomkins, and the publishers, the Gazette-News, we would like to say, "Thank you for all the time and effort you have expended in our behalf," and to the teachers and students who have worked so hard on every phase of the book we also say "Thanks".

Last, but certainly not least, we express our gratitude to the advertisers without whose patronage we would have been unable to publish this book. We sincerely hope that the readers will show their appreciation of this community spirit by patronizing these firms whenever possible.

An Act of Reverence

Almighty God, we acknowledge our dependence upon Thee and ask Your Blessing on us, our parents, our teachers, and our country.

THIS ACT OF REVERENCE WAS ADOPTED BY THE NEW YORK STATE BOARD OF REGENTS FOR USE BY STUDENTS IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF THE STATE.

It is difficult to impartially estimate the contribution of each of eleven religious denominations to the life of our community. However, the collective value of these organizations is great.

Primarily, we look to them for individual guidance and opportunities for religious expression which are felt to be essential to the happy, wholesome life of any person, family or community.

The religious groups in Le Roy have collectively contributed in establishing high standards for all Le Roy citizens. In a great measure we owe to our many religious organizations attitudes of faith, charity and brotherhood.

Churches have traditionally been the center of community life. Le Roy takes pride in the leadership afforded through outstanding clergymen. Organizations within churches are responsible for countless charitable, educational, social and religious activities which broaden and enrich community life.

Le Roy's schools and church organizations enjoy the closest cooperation concerning released time for religious education and observance of religious services.

Le Roy has been and always will be a fine community because of the good works of religious people inspired by their individual faiths and community spirit.
